Go on a 60-year ride
with Harley-
Davidson's Sportster
Things got a little weird in the American motorcycle industry
after World War II.

People hungered for new motorcycles, buying just about everything manufacturers could build. But on rare occasions a manufacturer produced a machine that nobody wanted. Such was the case with the Harley-Davidson Model K. The Model K had most of the features buyers wanted in a modern machine, like hand-operated clutches, foot-operated shifters, and cool-running aluminum heads, but it lacked perhaps the most important technological upgrade: a modern overhead-valve valve-train design. The

Model K retained the antiquated side-valve design because of arcane AMA racing rules written when Harley-Davidson and Indian competed head-to-head on American racetracks, but by 1952 Indian was on its last legs. This should have made the Model K a massive sales success. What

nobody counted on
was the British bike invasion. Thanks to their modern overhead-valve
engines, the lightweight British bikes humiliated the side-valve Harleys on the track and on the street. Upgrades to the Model K didn't help; Harley finally relented and introduced a new overhead-valve middleweight for the 1957 model year.

Dubbed the Sportster, it was everything the Model K was not.

More importantly, it was faster than the British competition.

Thus began the Sportster's sixty-year reign. Harley-
